WORLD SOCIETY FOR EKISTICS NEWS

The World Society for Ekistics is a non-political and non-religious body, formed to study man's patterns of living and their physical expression in the past, present and future. Its aims and objectives are:

— to promote the development of knowledge and ideas concerning human settlements by research and through publications, conferences, scholarships, etc.
— to encourage the development and expansion of education in ekistics.
— to educate public opinion concerning ekistics, thus stimulating world-wide interest and cooperation.
— to recognize the benefits and the necessity of an interdisciplinary approach to the needs of human settlements, and to promote and emphasize such an approach.

The Society was formed in 1967 following preliminary discussions at the second Delos Symposion. At present it has 149 members from 22 different countries. Membership is based upon excellence in any professional field which contributes to ekistics, and is through nomination by the Society's Executive Committee and ratification by its General Assembly.

General Assembly

The Eighth General Assembly of the W.S.E. is scheduled to be held on Monday, July 17, 1972 from 12 noon to 1 p.m. on the premises of the Athens Center of Ekistics.

Major items on the agenda include: the report of the Secretary-General on the achievements over the past year; ratification of new members and of honorary members; reports on incorporation proceedings in France, on the Society's participation as an International Non-Governmental Organization in the UN Conference on the Human Environment, and on regional WSE meetings. A final major item will be discussion on a program of action for the Society for the coming year.

New members

Seventeen persons have accepted invitations issued over the past year to become members of the World Society for Ekistics. These new members are: Y. Ashihara, Japanese architect; H. Asplund, Swedish architect-planner; W. Berl, U.S. physicist; H. Chenery, U.S. economist; H. Cox, U.S. Professor of divinity and writer; B. Delapalme, French administrator; E. Erikson, U.S. child psychologist; L. Halprin, U.S. architect; P. Marks, U.S. health specialist; R. Merton, U.S. sociologist; W. Posvar, U.S. educator; A. Rapoport, Australian architect-planner; F. Smallwood, U.S. political scientist; A. Spilhaus, U.S. meteorologist and oceanographer; H. Strawbridge, U.S. business executive; J. Tankersley, U.S. business executive; and R. Walters, U.K. architect.

Honorary members

By a decision of the 1971 General Assembly, an amendment to the W.S.E. articles of association was approved, establishing a class of honorary members, election to which is at the option of retired or retiring members of the Society and the nomination of the General Assembly. Accordingly, seven persons have accepted invitations to become honorary members: T. Dobzhansky, E. Despres, O. Fischnich, J.M. Fraser, G. Myrdal, J. Oates and W. Ostrowski.

Participation as an INGO in the UN Conference on the Environment

In its capacity as an International Non-Governmental Organization in consultative status with the United Nations the Society participated in the United Nations Conference on the Human Environment held this June in Stockholm, Sweden. The official representatives of the Society were past-president Dr. Margaret Mead and Mrs. Helen Reurs.

A report on the Society's International Conference on Education in Ekistics held July 9-10, 1971 in Athens, was submitted to the United Nations as a substantive contribution to the Conference, and an exhibit was on display at the Environment Forum for the duration of the meeting.

Regional meetings

The group of British Delians and W.S.E. members met twice during the year and produced suggestions for the discussions at Delos and also for future action by the Society.

Other informal meetings of W.S.E. members took place during the year in France, the U.S., Sweden and Japan, during visits to these various countries of the President and/or the Secretary-General.

WSE suggestions for UN University

The World Society for Ekistics was requested by UNESCO to make comments and suggestions on a proposal for the establishment of a United Nations University. The Secretariat provided some suggestions, in consultation with the President and other members, for the inclusion of ekistics in such a curriculum, and the possibility of units covering this subject matter.
